New Semester

This month we have started a new semester. It is very exciting! I think the classes are a lot easier, but don't tell the teachers that! This year the AIM staff is trying something new, they are letting us choose our teams and fields. In the past they would give us a list to fill out, then they would try to match every one's wants and try to make everyone happy. This means you don't get as much say in where you go or with whom you go with. But with this new approach, it is a lot more stressful on our part. There are so many people that I would like to go with and they with me but most of us want different fields. So it is hard to make decisions. Right Now I am very much interested in going to Zambia, Africa. But we won't make any final decisions till December. I am very anxious.

I am also very anxious for the holidays; they are coming up so soon! I have already been in AIM for Three month!! That is crazy to think about!! It has passed by so quickly!

I got all my Test results back for my last semester. I passed ALL my classes! I was so excited!! I felt like framing my Ed Wharton Test! He is a hard teacher!

It's amazing how God is faithful, through even some of the hardest times!

Well we took a class trip to Paducah, Kentucky. We helped with a big community fish fry! It was really cool, while we were down there we did some community services, we had a few classes, and time to get to know the people there. It was a lot of fun! On the way there we stopped in St. Louis and went in the St. Louis Arch! It was amazing!

I have done quite a bit with my Area Church. So far we have gone to a Hockey game! We got picked to go out on the ice and do some goofy games during the half time. It was so much fun!

We got to go to Kenneth and Vicky Littlefield's house for the weekend to help work cows and other chores around the house, such as cleaning the chicken coop and pulling weeds. I was lucky I got to help with the cows the whole time! I have missed working cows and messing with animals. It felt good to actually do some manual labor instead of sitting in that class room for six hours every day.

Well I had better end here! I have lots of studying to do! But please keep me in your prayers especially while I am trying to make decisions about fields and team mates. Thank you for all the financial and moral support!
