

The Family

Bill McAllister had internal bleeding and had an infusion of platelets Wednesday. He is having several problems.

Joyce Dyson is having problems sleeping since surgery.

Sue Hershey has cellulitis.

Rachel Valfre, friend of Matt & Brittany Daffern, had surgery on both of her knees on Thursday.

Coleen Guyer is still not feeling well.

My grandson was visiting one day when he asked, "Grandma, do you know how you and God are alike?" I mentally polished my halo while I asked, "No, how are we alike?" He exclaimed, "You're both old!"

Mowing the Flowers

I am convinced that somewhere in the world there is a young person whose sole joy in life rests in tending to his parents' lawn.

In my daydream, he takes great pleasure in trimming, cutting and making sure that the yard looks presentable. He continually frets over the driveway being swept, the sticks being picked up, and the grass being flawlessly cut.

I'm certain that this young person exists, but I'm also well aware that he doesn't live at my house.

Too many times, I've had to remind my children not to mow the flowers. You would think this would be common knowledge, but somehow it hasn't sunk in around our house.

Recently, while reminding my kids once again to be extra cautious around the roses, it dawned on me that sometimes Christians are also guilty of mowing the flowers.

The church is beautiful and delicate. Yet there are times, whether by careless words or thoughtless deeds, that we recklessly cut it down.

We do this when we gossip about other Christians, make negative comments about our leadership, or cause division and strife. It also occurs when we neglect our spiritual growth by allowing our hectic schedules to come between us and Jesus.

Christians should live cautiously, not allowing ourselves to be so overtaken with the troubles of this life that we fall into worldly habits. We must strive to conduct ourselves in a manner that is fitting to a Christian (Eph. 4:29-32), and never become careless or lazy.

In this world there are roses living among weeds—may we always be mindful of both.

BULLETIN DIGEST

Iuka church of Christ

Iuka, MS

An old Italian lived alone in New Jersey. He wanted to plant his annual tomato garden, but it was very difficult work, as the ground was hard. His only son, Vincent, who used to help him, was in prison. The old man wrote a letter to him and described his predicament:

Dear Vincent,

I am feeling pretty sad because it looks like I won't be able to plant my tomato garden this year. I'm just getting too old to be digging up a garden plot. I know if you were here my troubles would be over. I know you would be happy to dig the plot for me, like in the old days.

Love,

Papa

A few days later he received a letter from his son. Dear Papa, don't dig up that garden. That's where the bodies are buried.

Love, Vinnie

At 4:00 the next morning, FBI agents and local police arrived and dug up the entire area without finding any bodies. They apologized to the old man and left. That same day the old man received another letter from his son.

Dear Papa,

Go ahead and plant the tomatoes now. That's the best I could do under the circumstances.

Love You, Vinnie
