I Was Just Thinking

As we see what the liberal mainstream of our society is spewing as truth, we must equip ourselves with the knowledge as well as the courage to stand for legitimate truth. My concern is for my children and grandchildren. When I was growing up, truth was understood as right and wrong based upon the Bible and not personal reason. Now our children are being taught that truth is determined by each individual and not from any standard of right and wrong; what is right for me may be wrong for you and vice-versa. Jehovah God is no longer a part of the scenario of life's choices. When the leaders of this country boast that this is no longer a Christian nation, I begin to shudder! Unfortunately, they may be right. Are we living in a post-Christian world? When the Bible has been removed, so has restraint. When restraint is gone, there is chaos and confusion. Immorality becomes commonplace, homosexuality is accepted as normal, abortions become a reasonable alternative to birth control, and the respect for any authority dwindles. If you are concerned about the person you want to marry, go ahead, because you can always get a divorce. If it is that big a problem just move in together and forget all of the marital hassle. Society becomes overrun with the violent influence of the criminals and there are not enough jails to contain them. When I was a kid and the teachers stepped out of the room, there were always some that would take advantage of the freedom and, as a result, usually we all got in trouble. It does not matter if you are 13 or 31, remove restraints and there will be a multiplicity of problems. If we are nothing more than well-dressed apes, then we are just following our long-lost ancestry. Who, using logic and good reason, would ever believe that taking prayer out of the school and religion out of our society would improve our nation? Who in their right mind would think that society is actually improving as the influence of God and His Word has weakened? As Christians we hope that if we just will leave things alone, we will be left alone. We must wake up and realize what we are doing to our children and grandchildren. We must be accountable for this mess. I am so afraid that the days of God, mother, and country are over and are being replaced by me, me, and me. It is no longer about the economy or politics but about a system, a system of evaluating right and wrong, and being accountable for our actions. Shall we allow the liberal to steal from us our most precious of all gifts, the truth? Shall we continue to allow the influence of a liberal media, and liberal education to mold and shape the minds of our children? Isn't it about time to reveal the poison of unreasonable science and philosophy? If God does not hold our future, then who or what does?

A minister decided to have a demonstration to add emphasis to his sermon. Four worms were placed into containers. The first one was put into a container of alcohol. The second worm was put into a container of cigarette smoke, the third in chocolate syrup, and the fourth in good clean soil. After the sermon, the minister reported that all of the worms were dead except the fourth one in the good soil. He asked the congregation, "What can we learn from this demonstration?" A little old lady said, "As long as we drink, smoke and eat chocolate, we will not have worms!"
