After moving with his parents and younger brother to a new town, our grandson Jordan, age 10, had a rough and rocky year at school. The next year was a total transformation. When his parents asked what he thought was the difference, he was quick to respond, "Well, last year was my rough draft."

WEAKNESS, OR STRENGTH?

A ten-year-old boy decided to study judo, despite the fact that he had lost his left arm in a devastating car accident. He began lessons with an old Japanese judo master. The boy was doing well, so he couldn't understand why, after three months of training, the master had taught him only one move. "Sensei," the boy finally asked, "Shouldn't I be learning more moves?"

"This is the only move you know, but this is the only move you'll ever need to know," the sensei replied. Not quite understanding, but believing in his teacher, the boy kept training.

Several months later, the sensei took the boy to his first tournament. Surprising himself, the boy easily won his first two matches. The third match proved to be more difficult, but after some time, his opponent became impatient and charged; the boy deftly used his one move to win the match.

Still amazed by his success, the boy was now in the finals. This time, his opponent was bigger, stronger, and more experienced. For a while, the boy appeared to be overmatched. Concerned that the boy might get hurt, the referee called a time-out. He was about to stop the match when the sensei intervened.

"No," the sensei insisted. "Let him continue."

Soon after the match resumed, his opponent made a critical mistake; he dropped his guard. Instantly, the boy used his move to pin him. The boy had won the match and the tournament. He was the champion.

On the way home, the boy and the sensei reviewed every move in every match. Then the boy summoned the courage to ask what was really on his mind. "Sensei, how did I win the tournament with only one move?"

"You won for two reasons," the sensei answered. "First, you've almost mastered one of the most difficult throws in all of judo. And second, the only known defense for that move is for your opponent to grab your left arm."

The boy's biggest weakness had become his biggest strength. "..for when I am weak, then am I strong" (2 Corinthians 12:10).

"A Better Life"

It will Die!

Take a leaf from a branch, lay it carefully aside and watch! Slowly the color fades, the leaf goes limp, curls up and dies!

Take a fish out of water, lay it carefully on the ground and watch! Frantically it twists, struggles, gradually weakens, quivers and dies!

Take a Christian away from the fellowship and worship of the church, let him remain at home on the Lord's day, and watch! Gradually he stops praying, misses the Lord's Supper, frets about activities of others, points an accusing finger at "hypocrites" in the church, and finally he opposes Christianity, and dies!

Set Goals

After Eisenhower won the Republican nomination for President from Robert Taft in 1952, a reporter asked Taft about his goals. He said, "My great goal was to become President of the United States in 1953." The reporter smirked. "Well, you didn't make it, did you?" He said. "No, but I became senator from Ohio!"

I Don't Worry

"I have a mountain of credit card debt," one man told another. "I have lost my job. My car is being repossessed and our house is in foreclosure, but I am not worried about it," exclaimed his friend.

"I've hired a professional worrier. He does all of my worrying for me, and that way I don't have to think about it."

"That's fantastic! How much does your professional worrier charge for his services?" "50,000 a year," he replied. "50,000 a year! Where are you going to get that kind of money?"

"I don't know," came the reply. "That's his worry!"

Mike Benson

After shopping, my 8-year-old granddaughter and I stopped for lunch at a fast food place. I ordered hamburgers, fries and a soft drinks. As we waited for our order she commented to me, "I could never be a vegetable-terian because I like hamburgers too much."
