

The Family

John Dannelley is in Childers Place in the Lakeview wing, room 20.

Ray Burlingame had a cat scan on Thursday. He will still be going to Dallas for surgery.

Malcom Williams, cousin of Dale Dennis, requests prayers for his health and treatment of tumors. He lives in Franklin, TX.

O. B. Corley, father of Teal Carter, is in Triumph Hospital room, 212.

Mike Clem, brother of Dolores Pence, continues to need our prayers.

God writes with a pen that never blots, speaks with a tongue that never slips and acts with a hand that never fails.

The value of the dollar will never fall as low as some will stoop to get it.

THE LAST GENERATION

Our nation is in trouble. Morally, religiously, economically and politically—we are in trouble. When the Constitution, the document upon which the Republic was built, is called a “living document,” i.e., it must change with the culture and be politically correct, and is no longer interpreted but ignored by some in high places, we are in trouble. When the morality of the nation is at an all-time low and national debt is at an all-time high, we are in trouble. When “congress shall establish no religion” is interpreted to mean that God is removed from the fiber of our nation, we are in trouble. Will this be the last generation of Americans who were a part of the greatest nation on earth?

The church is also encountering difficulties in many places, here and abroad. From the outside, the church ever faces the temptation to be overly influenced by the culture. This is called the “Emergent Church” movement. Becoming like the world silences the voice of conviction that should characterize the church. The church is in the world and does its work in the world, but must be carefully separated from the world. We are not to conform to this world but are to have a transforming influence in the world. From the inside we face the “Change Agent” movement which seeks to remake the church into a denomination. “Change Agents” have affected countless congregations as well as administrators and teachers on the campuses of Christian colleges and universities. If this movement has its way, we wonder if this is the last generation to stand strong upon biblical truth and to call for the restoration of New Testament Christianity. This is certain: the church will be here when Jesus comes. Not even the power of death can defeat it (Matt. 16:18). However, local churches or individual members must make a choice. Where are the churches at Corinth, Thessalonica, Philippi, Colosse and what happened to the seven churches of Asia? We may continue to exist, but will we exist as a church that seeks to be the church of the New Testament?

In our families, the most important influence in the lives of children are their parents. If today's young people are as strong or weak spiritually in the coming years as their parents are today, we wonder if this is the last generation that will be the church of the New Testament. We look to the future optimistically but realistically and wonder what the future holds for us. It's worth pondering. Could this be the last generation to hold to the real, the true and the lasting in matters affecting us nationally, religiously and domestically?

BULLETIN DIGEST

Benton church of Christ

.....
“Have You Noticed?”

That the people who find time to visit the sick and teach the lost have as much to do as those who do not? It is with them a matter of putting the most important things first.

That people who never miss services have just as much sickness and just as many kinfolks as those who miss when they don't feel good or when company comes? They just put first things first.

That those who are teaching Bible classes don't have any more time to prepare than others do, they just take time for that which is important.

That those who attend Bible classes regularly have just as many small children as those who don't attend regularly? They just want their children to be taught the Bible from the earliest years.

That they are simply seeking God's Kingdom first (Matt 6:33) by first giving themselves to the Lord (2 Cor. 8:5).

Think about it!

A college student challenged a senior citizen, saying it was impossible for their generation to understand his. “You grew up in a different world,” the student said. “Today we have television, jet planes, space travel, nuclear energy, computers...” Taking advantage of a pause in the student's litany, the older man said, “You're right. We didn't have those things when we were young, so we invented them! What are you doing for the next generation?”

.....
A Sunday school teacher was teaching her class about the difference between right and wrong. “All right children, let's take another example,” she said. “If I were to get into a man's pocket and take his billfold with all his money, what would I be?” Little Johnny raised his hand, and with a confident smile, blurted out, “You'd be his wife!”

.....
A beautiful young girl walked up to the counter in a department store, “How much is this fabric?” she asked. “Only one kiss per yard,” replied the smirking male clerk. “That's fine,” she replied, “I'll take ten yards.” With expectation and anticipation, the clerk measured it, cut the cloth, put it in a bag and handed it to the girl. She snapped up the package and said, “Grandpa will pay the bill!”
