Two boys were arguing when the teacher entered the room. The teacher said, "Why are you arguing?" One boy answered, "We found a ten dollar bill and decided to give it to the person who tells the biggest lie." "You should be ashamed of yourselves," said the teacher. "When I was your age, I didn't even know what a lie was." The boys gave the ten dollars to the teacher.

MODERN DAY SUPERSTITION

Parke Kunkle of the Minnesota Planetarium Society rocked the world of astrology on January 13, 2011, when he revealed that the traditional “star signs” used to determine horoscopes are wrong for most people.

It seems that the astrological signs codified by Ptolemy in the second century have changed since then, shifting most people to another sign. For instance, I have changed from an “Aquarius” to a “Sagittarius.” This means that the 25% of Americans who believe in astrology have been reading the wrong horoscopes all of their lives. Some professional astrologers claim they have always known this, but their followers certainly have not. (Belinda Luscombe, “Zodiac Switcheroo.” Time, January 31, 2011).

You may have looked at a horoscope sometime out of curiosity. The ones I have seen are written in such generic terms that any particular readings could apply to just about anyone, so it wouldn’t really make much difference what “sign” you were. Of course, it doesn’t make any difference anyway, because it is all nonsense at best and idolatry at worst. A newspaperman once told me that the two most read parts of the average newspaper are the letters to the editor and the horoscopes. I guess that explains why in our enlightened twenty-first century, most American newspapers, including ours, continue to carry their horoscope columns.

When Job gave his “oath of clearance,” defending himself against the charge that his suffering was the result of his sin, he denied, among other things, being engaged in astrology: “If I beheld the sun when it shined, or the moon walking in brightness; and my heart hath been secretly enticed, or my mouth hath kissed my hand: this also were an iniquity to be punished by the judge: for I should have denied the God that is above” (Job 31:26-28).

Astrology is in the same category as New Year’s good luck superstitions and number 13 bad luck. The superstitions put people in bondage to ignorance and deny the power of God. God is in control—not the stars (Romans 8:28).

When to Repent

An old rabbi used to teach his students, “Repent the day before you die.” “But rabbi,” they would protest, “we don’t know the day of our death.” “Then repent today!” he would say, with a twinkle in his eye. Truly, today is the day to repent (2 Corinthians 6:1-2). Tomorrow may be too late (James 4:13-15).

Design

Dr. Geoffrey Simmons, author of the book, What Darwin Didn’t Know, noted the following evidence of design: “A fertilized egg makes a journey as complex as the path of a golf ball that rolls 30 miles and lands precisely in the 18th hole of a course it’s never seen.” It is amazing that some would credit blind chance with this and other evidences of design within man. However, we know that “God built all things” (Hebrews 3:4).

Announce-

Today’s greeters are Tony and Christine Dennis. Next week, David and Martha Jones will be the greeters.

Visitation Team Three will need to see Kenneth and Lawanda Moore after evening services for their assignments.

Singles 39+ Potluck will be Tuesday in the Family Center at 6:30.

While watching television with my grandchildren, I took off my glasses and laid them in my lap. Four-year-old Jackson asked me why I took off my glasses. I told him I wanted to rest my eyes for awhile. “You sure do look different,” he replied, “but you sound the same!”

My 7-year-old granddaughter, Lindsey, came home from school and announced that she had a boyfriend named David. “We’ll probably get married someday,” she added. “But does David have a job?” I asked jokingly. “Oh, yes,” Lindsey replied seriously, “he erases the blackboard.”
